Externship Program

Fall 2014 Student Extern Guide¹

I. Introduction

The Externship Program is an essential component of the curriculum at Hamline University School of Law (HUSL). It gives students the opportunity to earn academic credit for legal work in private law firms, courts, corporations, government agencies, and other settings. Under the careful supervision and role modeling of attorney mentors, students gain practical hands-on experience in the practice of law.

II. Goals and Objectives of the HUSL Externship Program

The objectives for the HUSL externship program include:

- Developing students' ability to be self-directed and reflective practitioners;
- Promoting a sense of professional responsibility in students;
- Giving students greater insight into the workings of the legal system;
- Supporting students in their exploration of career choice through practice in a specific substantive area or broad category of lawyering;
- Training students in lawyering skills, which may include research and writing, client interviewing and counseling, advocating in court or other settings, marshalling and analyzing facts and documentary evidence, critical reflection, effective oral communication, collaboration/team work, negotiation and problem solving, and other lawyering tasks; and
- Assisting students in networking for future job searches and professional development.

The educational goals of the placement, its academic component, our process for site approval, and the close supervision of student work provided by mentors all help both HUSL and the placement site to comply with applicable provisions of the ABA Standards for Accreditation of Law Schools, the Fair Labor Standards Act, and applicable student practice rules (see Appendix J). Attorney mentor placement sites cannot charge clients for any work performed by student externs.

III. Student Eligibility

Participation in externships is guided by the following requirements:

- Students must have completed 2 full-time equivalent semesters of law school (24 credits is required if the placement site wants students to be eligible for certification as student attorneys);
- Professional Responsibility is a pre- or co-requisite;
- Some externships may have other specific prerequisites (as detailed online prior to registration);

¹ The law school externship community generously and regularly shares resources. This guidance piece has benefited from externship handbooks from the programs at Cardozo, Drexel, The Bay Area (BACE) and Los Angeles Area (GLACE) consortia, and California Western.

- Students may participate in the externship program twice, and for no more than 15 credits total; and
- Students may not extern with relatives or friends nor, in almost all circumstances, where they have been employed, know they will be employed, or where they are a client.

IV. Course Components

Students in three (3) to six (6) credit HUSL externships must:

- Complete the requisite number of unpaid field work hours at their placement sites with close attorney or judicial mentor supervision (and submit weekly time cards to the externship office);
 - 114 hours for 3 credits
 - 150 hours for 4 credits
 - 225 hours for 6 credits
- Participate in an on-campus classroom component and complete all assigned work; and
- Complete a learning goals exercise, goal setting and ethics memorandum, three (3) short reflective writing assignments; and engage in mid-semester and final evaluation processes and assignments as described in the appendices to this document.

Information about the requirements and application for the Semester-in-Practice program are available on the HUSL website at <http://law.hamline.edu/experiential-learning/semester-in-practice/>.

V. Attorney Mentors

Attorney mentors assist students in fulfilling the objectives of the externship program. Mentors assign meaningful and varied work and observation opportunities, and provide guidance and feedback on a regular basis to their externs. Additional expectations for attorney mentors include:

- At the very beginning of the semester, attorney mentors meet with externs to orient them to the workplace, discuss their learning goals, clarify expectations concerning confidentiality and conflicts of interest, and address any other ethical issues germane to the placement;
- At mid-semester, mentors complete a student evaluation prior to a mid-semester meeting with the extern (See Appendix F); and
- At the end of the semester, attorney mentors complete a final evaluation (See Appendix H).

Learning Goals Exercise

Articulating goals is an important step in any educational setting, but especially in an externship, where you take an active role in shaping the educational experience. The process of goal-setting has been divided into three steps to help you set goals and hone them to your particular legal practice setting. Your learning goals are not carved in stone; we expect them to change over time. The process of setting goals at the beginning of your experience, revisiting them later, and examining how and why they have changed over time can help you get the most out of your experience.

Step One

Complete the “Externship Learning Goals” survey in Symplicity listing three learning goals you have for your externship and the specific activities or experiences that will help you achieve each goal. In preparing these goals, consider taking (or revisiting) the Career Services Office Transferable Skills Inventory, which is available in the Self-Assessment Workbook (available in Symplicity’s Document Library), pp. 20-23. Be as specific as possible in listing the activities you plan to use to meet each goal. To get an idea of the kinds of things externs might expect to do in a placement, you can refer to the activities listed on the externship time card. This assignment is due by 11:59 p.m. on Sunday following the first week of the semester.

For Example:

Goal 1: Improve my legal research skills

Step 1: Ask my supervisor for a specifically research-oriented assignment also involving writing.

Step 2: Make a research plan—which secondary sources to start with, brainstorm search terms, think about when to stop researching and start writing.

Step 3: Don’t procrastinate—start two weeks ahead of assignment due date and make a task list for each day of what I plan to accomplish.

Goal 2: Decide if direct client service is what I want to do for my career

Step 1: Ask to sit in on client interviews and debrief the interviews with the attorney.

Step 2: Ask 2-3 attorneys in the office how they got their jobs and how they like them. Ask them out for lunch.

Step 3: Ask an attorney for a file from a particularly memorable case, see what steps were involved in the representation, and discuss the case with the attorney.

Symplicity Instructions \(https://law-hamline-csm.symplicity.com/students/\):

1. From your home page, click the “Surveys and Forms” link.
2. Look for the survey entitled “Externship Learning Goals_[term, year].”
3. Click the “Respond” button below the title.
4. Enter the requested information and click “Submit.”

Step Two

Discuss your learning goals with your attorney or judicial mentor. Find out whether s/he thinks your goals are realistic, whether your proposed activities and experiences are possible at this work site or within the timeframe of your externship, and whether s/he would suggest any additional activities or experiences to help you meet your goals. This meeting should be completed by the end of the first week of the semester.

Step Three

Submit a 1-2 page Goal-Setting Memorandum via TWEN. In this memorandum, describe how and why you chose your goals, how the initial meeting with your mentor went, and any changes you have made to your goals as a result of that meeting. (Don't forget to include your name on the memorandum.) This assignment is due by 11:59 p.m. on the Sunday following the first week of the semester.

Appendix C- Reflective Writing Assignments

Some reflective writing is built into the Learning Goals Assignment and the Mid-Semester and Final Evaluation Processes. You will need to turn in three additional 1-2 page reflective writing assignments during the course of the semester. (These assignments replace the former weekly journal requirement for Hamline externships.) The purpose of reflective writing is to focus on what you are learning from your externship, not on what you are doing. While some suggested topics call on you to describe an event or interaction, please do so only in general terms, keeping in mind the confidentiality requirements of your work site and avoiding any identifying details.

Your Hamline externship professor may assign you a particular topic to write about for one or more of these assignments. If not, feel free to choose from any applicable topic area or to write on a topic of your own choosing. Attached is a list of suggested reflective writing assignment topics.

See Appendix I for exact due dates for these assignments. Reflective Writing assignments will be provided to your externship professors and in some cases your classroom instructors (but not if your classroom instructor is also your attorney mentor). (Don't forget to include your name on your submissions.) Assignment must be submitted via Symplicity; no email submissions will be accepted.

Symplicity Instructions \(https://law-hamline-csm.symplicity.com/students/\):

1. You will need to have at least one approved resume in Symplicity before you can submit an assignment. (Keep one in the system all semester!)
2. Upload your documents into the "My Documents" section of your Symplicity account by clicking "Add New."
 - a. Note: "Label" each document with specificity for ease of future reference (e.g., "John Doe Reflective Writing #1"), in addition to ensuring your name is included within the document itself. Select "Resume" in the document type field when uploading your materials.
3. Once you have uploaded your assignment(s) to the "My Documents" section, click the "Jobs: Hamline Career Services Jobs" tab from your Symplicity home page.
4. From the job bank, use the "Position Type" drop-down menu to easily filter for "Externship Assignments" and click "Search."
5. Click the title of the appropriate assignment (which is the "job posting" title). Under "Want this Job?" on the right side of the screen, click "Apply."
6. From within the "Resume" field in the window that appears, select the document you uploaded for this assignment from the drop-down menu. (This menu should be populated with all the documents you have uploaded and selected as "Resume" within "My Documents.")
7. Once you have selected your document, click "Submit." (You will be able to review submissions under the "Applications" tab within this "Jobs" section of Symplicity.)

Suggested Topics (general):

1) Describe an interaction that you have had a chance to observe between a lawyer and a client, either in your office or elsewhere. What did the lawyer do (or fail to do) to treat the client respectfully? How effectively did the lawyer communicate with the client? What did the lawyer do to make the communication particularly effective (or ineffective)? What lessons can you take from this interaction about effective ways to treat clients?

2) Describe the office you are working in. How many people work there? How do lawyers interact with each other? How do they interact with non-lawyers with whom they work? What do you like about this office culture and/or what makes you apprehensive? Is this a kind of office in which you would like to work? Why or why not?

3) Describe an event that challenged assumptions you had about the justice system. What assumption did you have about the way the justice system worked? Where do you think those assumptions came from? What happened in this event that has called those assumptions into question? Do you think the event is typical or atypical of the way the justice system generally works?

4) Describe your aspirations about work-life balance as a lawyer. How many hours a day or week do you want or expect to work? How challenging do you expect the job of a lawyer to be? What do you observe about the quality of life of the attorneys in your work setting? In what ways do you want to emulate/avoid the lifestyles you see?

5) Describe a difficult situation that you had to handle in your externship. What was the situation and what made it difficult? How did you choose to respond? Did you get a satisfactory result? If so, why? If not, what could you have done differently?

6) Describe an effective piece of advocacy (an argument in court, a negotiation, a discussion with a client, etc.) that you have had a chance to observe. What made it effective? What lessons can you take from this piece of advocacy about what it means to be a good lawyer?

7) Describe an event of effective problem-solving that you have had a chance to observe. What made it effective? What lessons can you take from this piece of advocacy about what it means to be a good lawyer?

Specific to Criminal Law Externship

1) Describe your reasons for choosing the Criminal Law Externship. Do you come to the externship with aspirations to work as a public defender or prosecutor? If so, which were you inclined to do prior to this externship? Did you end up in a placement that aligns with your preferences? Has your experience strengthened your preference or weakened it? Why?

2) Describe your impressions of criminal court. How do you see defendants being treated by the court, by their lawyers, by others? Do you see victims of crime in court? If so, how are they being treated? Do you think their interests are being adequately represented? Why or why not?

Appendix B - Ethics Memorandum Assignment

When introducing an outsider into a legal workplace, ethical issues are always a concern. Attorneys have a professional responsibility to ensure that all employees—lawyers and nonlawyers alike—comply with the professional obligations and fiduciary duties they owe to their clients. Two of the most important of these ethical obligations are the duty of confidentiality and the protection against conflicts of interest. This assignment is designed to help you familiarize yourself with confidentiality and conflict of interest rules and to ensure that you understand and comply with the ethical requirements in your externship placement.

Step One

Locate and read the pertinent Minnesota Rules of Professional Conduct (or, if your externship placement is out-of-state, the applicable rules in your jurisdiction) that govern confidentiality and conflicts of interest. The most pertinent rules are 1.6 (confidentiality); 1.7 (conflicts of interest: current clients); and 1.9 (duties to former client). However, your particular placement or personal background may implicate additional rules, such as 1.13 (organization as a client); 1.11(former government employees); or 1.11 (former judges, arbitrators or mediators).

Step Two

Within the first two weeks of the semester, discuss with your attorney mentor any workplace policies on confidentiality and conflicts of interest. Be sure to find out:

- if there are any special disclosures you need to make about prior employment before beginning legal work in your setting;
- if there are any matters in your externship work site from which you will need to be screened based on your personal affiliations or other past or current employment;
- what the limits are on sharing information you learn in your externship with others, including friends, relatives, other students, on social media, and with your externship professor(s); and
- what kind of record you are permitted to keep about your work at the externship site to facilitate conflict-checking in future employment.*

This discussion should be completed before the end of the second week of the semester (and ordinarily will be a part of the same first week meeting in which you discuss your learning goals for the semester).

Step Three

Submit a 1-3 page Ethics Memorandum via Symplicity, in which you explain your understanding of the ethical requirements and workplace policies regarding confidentiality and conflicts of interest in your externship placement. Address at least the following questions:

Confidentiality: What kinds of information are covered by confidentiality requirements in your externship workplace? What precautions must you take in discussing your work with friends, relatives, other students, on social media, and with your classroom instructor and externship professor in class or in reflective writing assignments?

Conflicts of Interest: What kinds of other work might cause conflicts of interest in this workplace setting? What kinds of work might you do in this externship that might cause conflicts of interest to arise in future employment? What steps must or can you take to identify current and future conflicts of interest?

Other Ethical Issues: Are there any other professional ethical issues that you can foresee arising in your externship placement? If so, what will you do to address them if and when they arise?

See Appendix I for the exact due date of this assignment. This memorandum will be provided to your externship professor and in some cases your classroom instructor (but not if your classroom instructor is also your attorney mentor). (Don't forget to include your name on this memorandum.) The assignment must be submitted via Symplicity; no email submissions will be accepted.

2012 Changes to the ABA Model Rules regarding confidentiality and conflict-checking

In August, 2012, the ABA amended the Rules of Professional Conduct to permit the revelation of a limited amount of information as necessary to detect and resolve potential conflicts of interest arising from prior employment.

1.6 (b)(7) A lawyer may reveal information relating to the representation of a client to the extent the lawyer reasonably believes necessary. . . to detect and resolve conflicts of interest arising from the lawyer's change of employment or from changes in the composition or ownership of a firm, but only if the revealed information would not compromise the attorney-client privilege or otherwise prejudice the client.

Comments to the Rule explain that: "such disclosure should ordinarily include no more than the identity of the persons and entities involved in a matter, a brief summary of the general issues involved, and information about whether the matter has terminated."

Although this change to the confidentiality rules has not yet been adopted in Minnesota, it helps to clarify the practices already used by many employers to identify potential conflicts with new employees that they hire. To set up appropriate screening mechanisms, your future employers may want to know what legal work you have done in the past, within the parameters set by this rule (e.g., the identities of any clients on whose cases you have worked as a law student and a brief summary of the kind of work you did on each case).

Student Mid-Semester Evaluation Process

Step One

Complete the Mid-Semester Student Evaluation Survey and Mid-Semester Site Evaluation Survey in Symplicity. (They will appear as two segments of the same survey.) The questions contained in these surveys are attached for your reference. The purpose of these surveys is to revisit the learning goals you set for yourself at the beginning of the semester, to reflect on what you have accomplished so far, and to determine what else you wish to accomplish before the end of the semester. Your answers to these surveys also give your Hamline externship professor a sense of how well the placement is working for you and any issues you might be having with the placement. This assignment is due by 11:59 p.m. on Sunday after the fifth week of the semester. A copy of your answers to the Mid-Semester Student Evaluation Survey questions will be shared with your externship professor and your attorney or judicial mentor. Your responses to the Mid-Semester Site Evaluation questions will be shared only with your externship professor.

Symplicity Instructions \(https://law-hamline-csm.symplicity.com/students/\):

1. From your home page, click on “Profile,” then “Externship Placements.”
2. Below the name of your placement, click “Submit Evaluation” (or “Edit Evaluation” for the Final).
3. Complete the appropriate portion of the evaluation survey and click “Submit” when you’re finished.
 - a. Note: The Mid-Semester Student, Mid-Semester Site, and the Final evaluations are included in the same survey. Complete only the portion(s) due at each time – at this time that would be the “Mid-Semester Student Evaluation” and the “Mid-Semester Site Evaluation” portions of the survey.

Step Two

The externship office will forward your responses to the Mid-Semester Student Evaluation Survey to your externship professor and attorney or judicial mentor, and likewise will forward your mentor’s Mid-Semester Evaluation of you to you (provided we have received it in a timely manner) on or before 5:00 p.m. on the Wednesday of the eighth week of class. Thereafter during the remainder of week eight or in week nine, meet with your Hamline externship professor and your attorney/judicial mentor. This may be a joint meeting at your work site with both your professor and your mentor, or you may meet separately with your Hamline professor at the law school (or online for the online externship course) either prior to or after meeting with your attorney/judicial mentor. You are responsible for scheduling both meetings. (Note: You will want to schedule these meetings several weeks in advance to ensure you are able to get on your externship professor’s and attorney or judicial mentor’s schedules within this time frame.)

The Mid-Semester Evaluations in Symplicity ask the following questions:

Appendix J – The Fair Labor Standards Act and Law Student Externs

This summary is being provided to externship placement sites on behalf of Minnesota's four law schools: Hamline University School of Law, University of Minnesota Law School, University of St. Thomas School of Law and William Mitchell College of Law.

Each of the four law schools' externship programs is designed to extend the students' academic study by providing the students the opportunity to apply the knowledge they learn in the classroom to real world settings. Field supervisors should recognize that because the students are receiving academic law school credits for their hours at the placement site, the field supervisors need to follow the guidelines set by the individual schools to ensure that the students are receiving supervision and critical feedback, and are engaged in field activities that further the students' learning.

Private Law Firm Placements: The four law schools require that any private law firm that serves as a placement site not bill the firm's clients for a student's time or supervision time.

Each law school will take the responsibility to ensure that its students are informed of the following:

- The externship is for the student's benefit to gain legal educational experience and training.
- The student is receiving law school credits for the externship and is responsible for following through on the academic and administrative requirements set by the student's law school in order to receive credits for the externship.
- As an extern, a student is not an employee of the placement site. The student cannot be paid, is not eligible for any benefits, and is not necessarily entitled to a job with the placement site at the end of the student's externship.

If the externship placement site has any questions regarding this information, please contact the respective administrator or faculty who worked with you on setting up the externship.
